

The work consists of three sections.

The first chapter deals with setting up fault-tolerant system based on AWS with quick and flexible deployment.

The second section is devoted to establishing a system of sending messages to social networks. Review the basic bot systems. Creating a sustainable program.

The third section deals with the use of methods to assess the number of unique events. They compare and choose the best.